GUNFIRE BARS
YUGOSLAVS IN
FREE TRIESTEAMERICAN TROOPS
KEEP ORDER IN TENSE MOMENT

BY OSGOOD CARUTHERS
Trieste, Sept. 16 (AP)—A warning burst of American machine-gun fire at a tense moment today in the birth of the free territory of Trieste kept Yugoslav troops from crossing into the area.

Maj. Gen. T. S. Airey, British commander in Trieste, said cool-headed action by a dozen Americans at a border outpost prevented an incident with 36 Yugoslav troops which "might have led to bloodshed."

Gen. Airey declared that Yugoslav entry into Trieste would have been "a breach of the peace treaty which I would have resisted to the last."

He added that to permit Yugoslav troops to enter would certainly have resulted in bloodshed, due to bitter feeling among the predominantly Italian population.

Rioting Kills Three

The toll from Italian-Slav rioting in Trieste mounted to three with the death of a 17-year-old Italian student wounded yesterday by a hand grenade. Another man and a 11-year-old girl were killed previously.

Under the terms of the treaty the Free State of Trieste will be administered by a governor to be appointed by the United Nations Security Council. Pending that appointment—Russia has objected to 18 nominees—the British-American military governments will rule in the north and the city of Trieste and the Yugoslavs in the south.

Gen. Airey said the Yugoslav troops would have to go around the Free State border area to enter the territory under their control.

Officers and troops along the southern sector of the Free State told newsmen that Yugoslav units in three instances issued "ultimatums" to the Americans to withdraw or they would advance within a stated time. In each case there was no attempt by the Yugoslavs to advance at the time limit.

In general the occupation by Yugoslav troops of land in the Italian Peninsula awarded to Yugoslavia under the Italian treaty seemed without incident.

An army announcement said U. S. troops remained only at a few outposts where questions of minor border rectifications were being discussed.

The Yugoslav troops that had demanded entry into the free territory were a detachment of the 2,000 troops which were designated under an agreement to be attached to the Allied Military Government as liaison troops.

Armed Clash Averted
The Yugoslav troops had been in Zone A, which was under British-American jurisdiction in Venezia Giulia until yesterday, but which passed under Yugoslav authority when the treaty became effective.

Gen. Airey said he received a letter last night from a Yugoslav staff officer saying the troops would enter on the main road into Trieste at midnight and station themselves in the city.

Gen. Airey said he previously had talked with the detachment commander and he agreed the troops should go around the free territory to enter the Yugoslav section.

The British commander immediately issued orders that the Yugoslavs would not enter.

At 3:30 a. m. a detachment of 34 Yugoslav soldiers and two officers appeared at Post No. 5, on the main road to Trieste, and

WAY TO HALT
SOVIET-U. S. A.
FIGHT HUNTEDARANHA OF BRAZIL
NEW PRESIDENT OF
U. N. ASSEMBLY

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—The United Nations assembly elected Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil as its president today and began a search for measures to stop the discord between the United States and Russia.

Statements of 55 nations gathered from all parts of the world realized that the answer to most of the issues before the U. N. lay in settling the Soviet-Western quarrels. Those overshadowed every move here.

Two ballots were taken to name the president.

Aranha got 26 votes on the first ballot to 23 for Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australia's foreign minister, and 6 for Dr. Jan Masaryk, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia.

On the second ballot—between the two top contenders—Aranha had 29, Evatt 22, and four were invalid. A majority of those present and voting was required.

Peace Or Strife
Aranha set the key-note of the meeting when he told the opening session this morning that the question before the delegates was "whether the road will lead to peace or to strife."

The large, ornate assembly hall was filled when Aranha, as temporary president holding over from the special Palestine session of the assembly here last spring, banged down the opening gavel at 10:09 a. m. (C.S.T.).

The morning session was confined to speeches. Aranha told the delegates that "deep in our hearts we know that the United Nations is the best hope of mankind in a distraught world and that on your success hinges the future of everyone of us."

At 10:43 a. m. (C.D.T.) Aranha adjourned the initial meeting, putting off the election of president until afternoon.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall, leading the U. S. delegation, sat midway of the assembly hall on the extreme left.

Marshall Will Speak
Andrej V. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, sat with his delegation at the same table with the British group, led by Minister of State Hector McNeill.

Vishinsky and McNeill arrived only this morning on the liner Queen Elizabeth and rushed to the Flushing Meadows assembly grounds in good time for the first meeting.

The assembly completed organization this afternoon by electing the chairman of the six main committees and seven vice presidents. These, with the president, make up the powerful 14-nation steering committee.

FREEDOM TRAIN
GIVEN SENDOFFSeven-Car Diesel Unit
To Visit 300 Cities
In National Tour

Philadelphia, Sept. 16 (AP)—"Freedom is everybody's job," President Truman warned tonight in a message marking the formal start of the Freedom Train's nationwide tour.

"Our world will be won or lost in our own homes, our churches, our schools, our union halls," the president said in his message, read on a nationwide broadcast (NBC) by Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

"I hope that every citizen—and especially our young people—will take part in the special week of dedication of which the Freedom train's visit will be the climax and will renew and refresh his faith in our democracy."

"I pray that each individual citizen everywhere will determine in his heart to continue to fight against bigotry and intolerance and will determine to do all in his power to assure the blessings of liberty in full measure for every American and for mankind."

Clark spoke as the sleek and shiny seven-car diesel train was delivered to the American Heritage Foundation which will sponsor the tour through 300 cities in every section of the nation.

Coast Of Florida
Battens Down As
Hurricane Nears

Miami, Fla., Sept. 16. (AP)—A severe hurricane menacing life and property on the rich and populous Florida east coast playground area moved slowly tonight toward the mainland between West Palm Beach and Miami.

The weather bureau, in a 10:45 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) advisory, said the West Indies-born storm was only 145 miles east of Palm Beach and apparently moving about eight miles an hour.

It is expected to rake the lower east coast Wednesday with high tides. The weather bureau said the storm was attended by winds of over 100 miles an hour near the center," but added that did not indicate any lessening of the storm's fury. Earlier advisories had given the wind velocity at 160 miles an hour.

Winds increased along the Florida east coast near midnight and were expected to reach hurricane force (75 miles or more) early tomorrow from Titusville to Miami and in the rich winter vegetable growing area around Lake Okeechobee.

Gale winds were predicted for the remainder of south and central Florida by afternoon.

Miami, the fabulous metropolis south of Palm Beach, also was menaced. The hurricane warnings were ordered displayed southward to include the greater Miami area.

Likewise included was the Lake Okeechobee region where a disastrous storm blew lake waters over farming communities 19 years ago today and drowned nearly 1,500 persons.

The Florida east coast and seaboard airline railroads sent cars to Lake Harbor and South Bay, in the western section of Palm Beach county, to evacuate 5,000 residents. They will be taken to Sebring in central Florida.

As the storm hovered 160 miles east of Palm Beach at 8:45 p. m. (Central Daylight Time), adjoining west Palm Beach was virtually "boarded up". The residents remained calm as they batten down and waited for the big blow.

Emergency shelters were opened at West Palm Beach with soldiers from Morrison Field handling registrations. Plans were being mapped to evacuate islands in Lake Okeechobee. Schools in Palm Beach county were ordered closed tomorrow.

Scheduled airline flights from northern points were being grounded at Jacksonville, only a few miles south of the Georgia State line.

Vast numbers of planes in the south Florida area started winging for inland points in advance of the thrust of the elements. Pan-American Airways pushed up three flights to South America and sent others of its clippers to Havana and Camaguey, Cuba.

Governor Millard Caldwell gave blanket authority to Brig. Gen. Mark W. Lance, state adjutant general, to utilize any of the state's 1,500 national guard troops he deemed necessary. Troops in the path of the hurricane were alerted.

Trooper Run Down
Deliberately; Negro Car Driver Hunted

Hillsdale, Mich., Sept. 16 (AP)—State Police today sought an unidentified motorist after he had deliberately run down a trooper who had stopped him for questioning.

Trooper Durrell Finkel of the Jonesville post said he stopped the driver (a negro) on a report from the Clinton post of a suspicious car having been seen.

The driver produced an erroneous file and upon being ordered out of the car, Finkel said, stepped on the accelerator.

Finkel said the car was driven against him and he was thrown to the pavement. He fired several shots at the fleeing car.

Law enforcement officers of southern Michigan and Ohio and Indiana were asked to be on the lookout for the car. The incident took place on US-112 near Allen.

Inhaler Smuggler
At Jackson Prison Given Fine Of $100

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 30 (AP)—James C. Moore, 21, former sailor who smuggled benzidine inhalers to Southern Michigan prison inmates, was fined $100 and costs and placed on a year's probation today.

Circuit Judge John Simpson passed sentence after Moore pleaded guilty to the offense while at work on veterans bonus applications in the prison last July.

LIQUOR AND GAS
BAN DISCUSSEDCommission Advised To Modify Restrictions
On Licenses

Lansing, Sept. 16 (AP)—Representatives of law enforcing agencies today recommended abandonment of the liquor control commission's policy of refusing liquor licenses to establishments maintaining gasoline pumps.

At an open meeting, the commission heard representatives of youth organizations and dry interests, however, give assent only to a modification of the policy and insist that strict limitations on the sale of beer and wine and package liquor should be retained.

The meeting was called by the commission who sought the views of interested organizations on the policy which has been widely criticized.

The policy was established several years ago on the theory that "gasoline and liquor do not mix." Harold White, Kalamazoo chief of police and representative of Police Chiefs Association said that "either drinking drivers are more accurate" He added, however, that it was his opinion that the combination sale of gasoline and liquor would have little effect on the problem.

Capt. C. J. Scarvada of the state police agreed. Statutory limitation of beer and wine and package liquor dealers was proposed by James Dotch of Lansing, director of the Michigan Congress of Table Licensees, while Meno R. Bolt of Grand Rapids, speaking for the Michigan Prosecutors Association, said the problem of drinking drivers was only for enforcement and regulation rather than an arbitrary rule.

Fresh Turtle Meat
Popular In South
As Beef Goes High

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Barton H. Smith, an importer, said today the sale of turtle steaks is booming as more and more housewives buy them as a substitute for higher priced beef.

Normally all turtle imports here go to canned soup manufacturers, but about three weeks ago butchers and fish dealers in many southern cities began calling for fresh turtle meat, Smith said.

He estimated that five tons of fresh turtle meat is now being shipped from Tampa daily.

High Prices Make
American People
Go Deeper In Debt

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—The American people as a whole are $3 billion deeper in debt today than at the first of the year largely because of record high prices, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today.

The rise in personal debt so far this year is a continuation of the trend in 1946 when the total increased $8.1 billion, the biggest annual rise on record, the Institute said.

Debts used in the Institute's study consisted of mortgages on homes and farms, loans on life insurance policies, and consumer credit.

FRENCH FILM CENSORED
Detroit, Sept. 16 (AP)—Objections of police censors today held up a scheduled showing of the French film, "The Well Digger's Daughter."

Inspector Charles Snyder said he will attempt to edit the film so it will meet police standards for general showing.

Truman Ship
Dodges Path
Of Hurricane

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO
With President Truman Aboard
The U. S. S. Missouri, Sept. 16. (AP)—Officers of the battleship Missouri, carrying President Truman home from Brazil, were alerted tonight that they may have to swing out of the path of a great tropical hurricane whirling off the Florida coast.

Latest observations indicated that if ship and storm follow their present courses, their paths will cross late Thursday off Cape Hatteras, N. C.

If the Missouri gets too close to the storm now moving at a slower rate than our ship, we will turn westward to avoid the high winds.

Ship's officers said the Missouri is unlikely to get within several hundred miles of the main body of the hurricane, but we might run into rough seas developed by the storm's forward winds.

Variety In Headgear
Earlier in the day, Mr. Truman, wearing a green pith helmet, witnessed an exciting bit of battle practice as the Missouri's anti-aircraft guns shot a radio-controlled "drone" plane out of the skies.

The "Mighty Mo's" 40-millimeter guns, firing at a range of 2,000 yards, quickly destroyed the "attacking" aircraft as it flew at 1,500 feet altitude.

Three other drones, catapulted from the fantail, got out of control of the ship's radar and were lost in the water.

Mr. Truman watched the firing from the open bridge. The green pith helmet marked still another exhibit in the parade of odd headgear the president has donned in the leisurely voyage home from Brazil.

In the past few days, he has appeared variously in an eight-pointed officer's cap, buff-colored campaign hat, white silk cap and a brown-checked cap favored by harness racers.

Today Mrs. Truman took a fashion tip from the president. She wore a green pith helmet, too.

MRS. GLAVIN,
64, DIES HEREPopular, Well-Known
Resident Succumbs
At Family Home

Mrs. Lillian E. Glavin, 64 years of age, popular and well-known resident of Escanaba for the past 27 years, died at her home at 520 Lake Shore Drive at 8:15 last night.

Born in Milwaukee Sept. 24, 1882, Mrs. Glavin was married to the late Charles F. Glavin in Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago.

Active in community affairs, Mrs. Glavin was a member of the Red Cross, the Escanaba Woman's club, St. Patrick's church and the Escanaba Golf club. She was former women's champion of the Golf club.

In addition to two sisters residing in Milwaukee, Miss Nelle Clarke and Mrs. Harry L. French, she is survived by seven children. They are: Mrs. John Bissell, Miss Patricia Glavin and John H. Glavin, all of Escanaba; Charles C. Glavin, Pelham, N. Y.; Mrs. George H. St. Peter, Fond du Lac, Wis.; Mrs. Joseph A. Bailey, Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. John Shaughnessy, of Dallas, Tex.

Thirteen grandchildren also survive her.

Mrs. Glavin was educated in Milwaukee grade and high schools and at the Milwaukee State Teachers college.

The body was taken to Boyce funeral home, where it will lie in state in the chapel, beginning at 4 p. m. today. The rosary will be recited at 8 tonight, and funeral services will be held at 9 tomorrow morning in St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in the family lot in Holy Cross cemetery.

Ex-Mayor LaGuardia
Collapses; Condition
Is Reported Critical

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Former New York Mayor F. H. La Guardia collapsed at his home tonight and his physician, Dr. George Bachy, reported him to be in critical condition.

"The former mayor has been falling gradually for the past week," Dr. Bachy said, "and tonight he suddenly collapsed and sank into a deep stupor."

Bachy said La Guardia, who was mayor for 12 years, was too critically ill to be removed to a hospital. La Guardia has been ill for some time.

La Guardia underwent an operation for a pancreas condition on June 18. Dr. Bachy said La Guardia has never recovered his strength.

ENTIRE TOWNS
WIPED OUT IN
HONSHU FLOODLOSS IN MILLIONS;
TOKYO MENACED
BY RIVERS

By Russell Brines
Tokyo, Wednesday, Sept. 17. (AP)—The number of known deaths from typhoon-born floods increased slowly today, with 2,384 Japanese dead or missing, and there was an unconfirmed report two U. S. soldiers had drowned.

Thousands were homeless in the typhoon area embracing two-thirds of Honshu, main island of Japan. Property damage was in the millions of dollars. New floods threatened to sweep through eastern Tokyo.

Although first accounts had listed no occupation force casualties, the public relations officer of the U. S. First cavalry division said he was investigating unconfirmed reports two U. S. soldiers were drowned. Various units were stationed in the flood zone.

Battle Of Dikes
With at least 15,000 homes flooded or damaged in Tokyo alone, armies of Japanese workers toiled throughout the night to strengthen dikes against the angry Tone and Arakawa rivers north of the capital.

The crests of the floods from these two streams were expected here at noon, and unless the battle of the dikes was won wide sections of eastern Tokyo probably will be inundated.

The Japanese government created a special relief headquarters to cope with the growing disaster. Stockpiles of food were available in the stricken areas, but clothing was urgently needed.

Kyodo News Agency estimated 2,300 homes were swept away, and 166,729 flooded or damaged in the area, which stretches from Honshu's southern shores to the northwest coast of the home island.

Kyodo, U. S. Army and unofficial estimates rolled up these counts:

2,380 dead or missing, including 100 dead in Tokyo.

Two medium sized towns wiped out and numerous villages flooded. 150,000 acres inundated.

Fifteen prefectures extensively damaged.

Hundreds of millions of yen damage—millions of dollars, U. S. at the official exchange rate of 2 cents a yen.

Cavalrymen Isolated
General MacArthur's headquarters had no reports of American or allied casualties. However, some families were moved to safer locations and an isolated unit of several hundred U. S. cavalrymen at Camp McNair, near Fukuyama, was supplied by air.

The typhoon, named Kathleen by the U. S. Army weather bureau, passed 30 miles south of Tokyo and only 10 miles south of

Tests Being Made To Determine Capacity Of City's 4 Water Wells

In an effort to determine the capacity of the four city wells now being used and as a move toward eventual solution of the city's water shortage problem, a series of pumping tests will be made here this week under the supervision of Wilbur T. Stuart, engineer in charge of the ground water division, geological survey, U. S. department of interior.

"These tests will show accurately just how much we can expect to receive in years to come from the city wells," A. V. Aronson, city manager, said yesterday.

Stuart was authorized to supervise the tests in Escanaba, without cost to the city other than assistance of city employees in conducting the examinations. The tests will be made by Albert C. Christensen, city water and sewage supervisor.

The pumping tests mark the first step toward conducting a thorough expert study of Escanaba's water supply before any definite action is taken toward solution of the problem.

Water consumption in Escanaba has increased to the point that the city's four wells are hardly adequate to satisfy the demand.

A checkup of a city water pumpage report for the months of July, August and September, compared with those same months in 1946, discloses that it was necessary to pump considerably more water from the bay this summer to satisfy the demand.

STATION WAGON HITS CABOOSE

Harry Belanger, 21, Of Gladstone, Badly Injured

Harry Belanger, 21, residing on North 15th street, Gladstone, was seriously injured at 12:40 p. m. yesterday when he drove a station wagon into the side of an E. & L. S. railway caboose on US 2-41, near the Fence company plant.

Belanger was taken to St. Francis hospital with possible internal injuries and skull fracture. An X-ray examination will be made this morning to determine the extent of his injuries.

The station wagon, owned by C. G. Bridges of Escanaba, was virtually demolished. The caboose was derailed. The freight train was backing across the highway when the accident occurred.

PRODUCTION OF GAS BOOSTED

New Record Established Monday; 303,000 Feet Consumed

Gas consumption reached an all-time high in Escanaba Monday when 303,000 cubic feet were consumed in a 24-hour period, breaking the previous record of 271,000 cubic feet by a considerable margin.

Production of gas at the city's gas manufacturing plant Monday was 299,000 cubic feet, which was in itself a new record here.

The record established Monday will not last long, however, and the heavy output all day yesterday indicated that Tuesday's production and consumption probably would write a new high.

The gas plant operated 19 hours Monday, the longest period of operation in any 24 hour period since the gas plant was established here. It is planned to put a third shift on duty soon and operate the gas plant on a continuous basis to meet the unprecedented demand for city gas.

The city plant is now operated manually but equipment for automatic operation is on order and is expected to arrive here in November or December. This equipment is designed for greater efficiency and it is estimated that the productive capacity of the local gas plant can be increased about 10 per cent with automatic operation.

A charge of reckless driving against Alyce M. Holmgren, Rapid River, was dismissed in justice court yesterday by recommendation of the prosecuting attorney after three witnesses had been heard.

The charge developed from an accident Aug. 29 at the intersection of Seventh street and First avenue north in which Ralph Martell, who was riding a motorcycle, was injured.

William Bellefeuil, Spalding, who was also charged with reckless driving as a result of an accident on Sept. 4 at the intersection of 23rd street and Ludington, pleaded nolle contendere upon arraignment in justice court yesterday. He was fined $25 and $20.25 court costs.

Home Economics

Rally Day Will Be Held Thursday

Members of Home Economics clubs in Delta county will meet in Escanaba Thursday, Sept. 16, for the annual rally day program, it was announced yesterday by Joseph Heirman, county agricultural agent.

The rally day program will open at 10 a. m. in the Central Methodist church with a training school for officers of Home Economics clubs in the county. The meeting is open to all members, however, and will be of interest to them, Heirman said.

At noon the various groups in the county will enjoy a pot-luck lunch, with each group bringing its own lunch.

The afternoon program will open at 1 p. m. with group singing, followed by a report by Mrs. Lillian Johnson of Gladstone on the Homemakers' Camp held recently at Chatham. Mrs. Helen Holmberg of Gladstone will demonstrate the making of wastebaskets from plywood.

There will be a discussion on projects to be offered during the 1947-48 club year led by Mrs. Oral Thompson of Cornell, county chairman of Home Economics extension work. Colorful slides showing activities at the Homemakers' Camp at Chatham will also be screened.

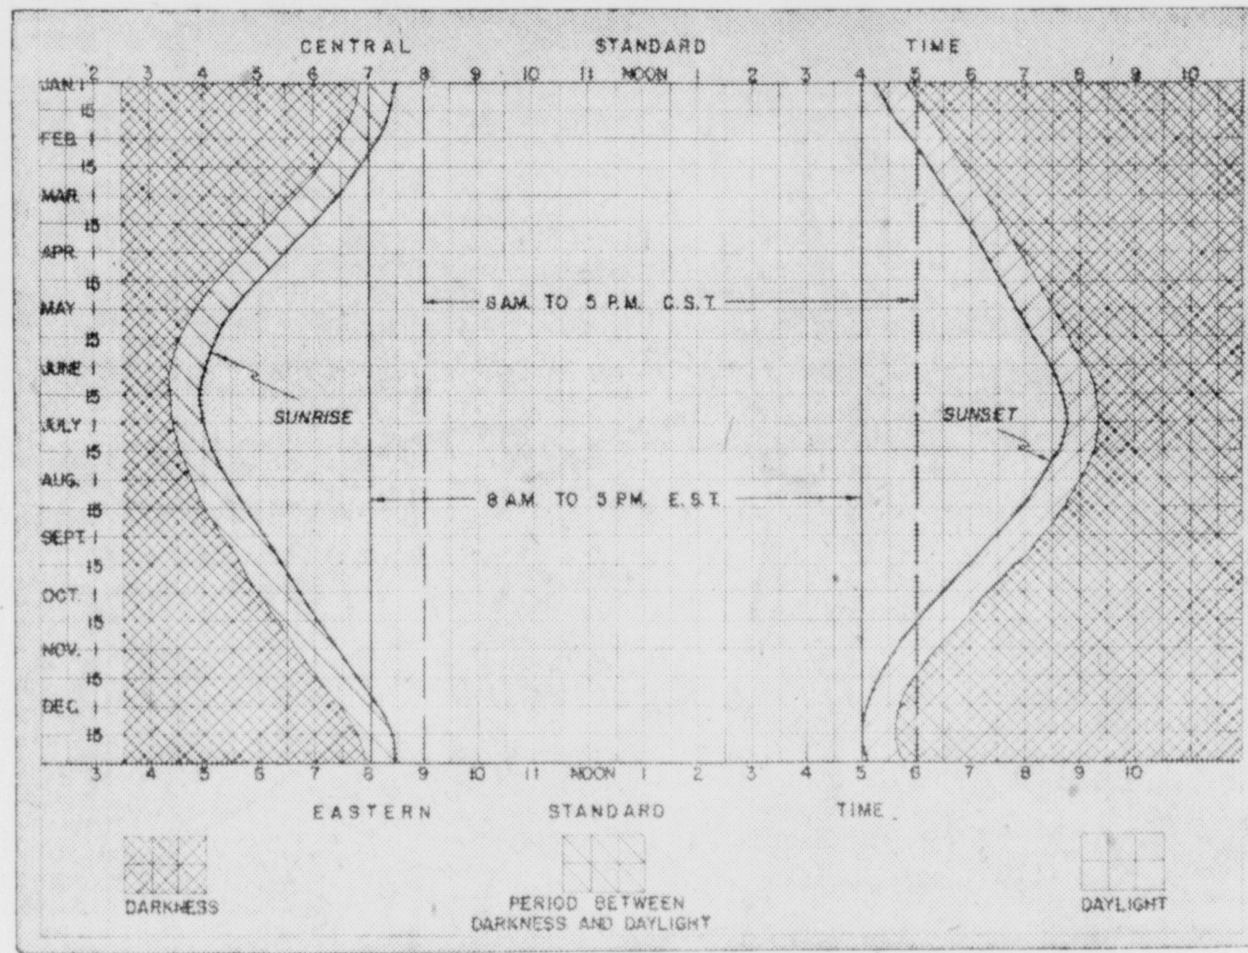

All women interested in the home economics extension program are welcome to attend and receive information that would be helpful in the organization of groups in their own area, Heirman said. New groups organized in the county within the past two weeks include those at Enslin, Kates Bay, Garden and Fayette.

Delta County Car Dealers To Meet Here This Evening

Delta county automobile dealers will attend a school of instruction in state laws affecting their business at the Escanaba city hall 8 o'clock this evening. All dealers are invited.

Dan Van Wagner, investigator of the secretary of state's office, will explain various regulations concerning title transfers, sales tax and other phases of the automobile business.

Traffic Danger Minimized Under Fast Time Year 'Round; City Is Light At 5 P.M. During Winter

Long and many have been the private debates concerning whether Escanaba should revert to Central Standard or slow time after the summer period of daylight saving time or whether the city should just simplify the whole thing and stay on Eastern Standard or fast time the year 'round.

Knowing that this is a question of great importance and one of considerable interest among the populace, Mayor Marvin L. Coon recently drew up a graph, which compares fast and slow time the year 'round and particularly during those hours of the day in which most of us are interested—8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The above graph, prepared from Mayor Coon's original idea by City Engineer Loren W. Jenkins and his staff, portrays exactly the hours of darkness and daylight existing the entire year during those times.

Lighter Under Fast Time
The hours, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., were chosen because they are the average business day.

It is shown that under Eastern Standard time—the hour shown at the bottom of the chart—it is daylight throughout the winter at 5 p. m., that time of the day when the traffic hazard is the greatest, when hundreds of businessmen, merchants and their employees are rushing home from work.

Proponents of Eastern Standard or fast time the year around emphasize that this is the most important factor involved—that with daylight from 5 to 5:40 during the longest winter months, streets of Escanaba will remain at the maximum safety point.

Note the graph above. Note that at no time during the winter does darkness or even twilight occur before 5 p. m. under fast time or Eastern Standard time.

Study The Chart
In contrast to this, it is dark or nearly dark at 5 p. m. for almost three months under Central Standard or slow time—the hours shown at the top of the graph.

A study of the chart will reveal that from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15 it is pitch dark at 5 o'clock. See where the dotted vertical line at the right intersects the shaded portion (signifying darkness) at the line adjacent to Nov. 15 on the sunset side of the graph. It continues through darkness until the end of December and—now glance at the top of the graph on the sunset side—see where the 5 o'clock line under Central Standard time stays in the dark until it hits Jan. 15.

That signifies darkness from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15—two full months. Note that that same dotted line remains in the twilight zone from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15—thence darkness from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15—and after Jan. 15, it remains in the twilight zone until about Feb. 7.

That gives you a period of darkness or semi-darkness from Oct. 15 to Feb. 7, or almost three months.

Semi-Dark At 8 A. M.
Proponents of Central Standard or slow time argue that under fast time, it stays dark later in the morning, but a study of the chart reveals that this small disadvantage is more than offset by the prolonged daylight during the heavy traffic period from 5 to 6 in the evening.

As it stands, fast time gives only two months and 10 days of semi-darkness at 8 a. m., in contrast to complete light at 8 under slow time.

But the fast-time advocates declare that a few weeks of semi-darkness at 8 a. m. from Nov. 25

Heartburn

Relieved in 5 minutes or double your money back. When excess stomach acid causes painful, burning, sour, sour stomach and heartburn, doctors usually prescribe the fast-acting medicine known for symptomatic relief—BELL-ANS like those in Bell-ANS Tablets. No laxative. Bell-ANS brings comfort 100% after or return bottle to us for double money back. 50c BELL-ANS for Acid Indigestion 25¢ to about Feb. 5 would incur no hardship on anyone. It would not be a great traffic hazard, they point out, because all schools start after 8 o'clock and most downtown stores do not open until 9 a. m.

Here's The Conclusion
Incidentally, the graph above, Engineer Jenkins points out, not only serves to clarify the issue in the debate between fast and slow time, but it also will prove handy for year 'round use for fishermen, sportsmen and travelers.

But to return to comparison, the conclusion to be drawn from a study of the graph is that fast time the year 'round appears to benefit the greatest number of people and certainly will provide the maximum safety on Escanaba's streets during the winter driving months of November, December and January.

Obituary

THOMAS T. BOVINE

Thomas Theodore Bovine, 69, of 321 North 12th street, Escanaba, died at 5:15 p. m. yesterday at the family home here after having been ill since last June.

Born in Harris Aug. 21, 1878, Mr. Bovine had resided in Escanaba all his life with the exception of 22 years spent in Menominee as inspector for the Lloyd Manufacturing company from Nov. 1922 to Nov. 1944. He was a member of the Odd Fellows.

Besides his wife, he leaves one sister, Miss Emma Bovine, of Escanaba, and several nieces and nephews.

The body was taken to Anderson's funeral home. Arrangements will be completed today.

WINTER SPORTS UNIT TO MEET

U. P. Council Will Convene Saturday
In Wakefield

Escanaba will be represented at a meeting of the Upper Peninsula Winter Sports council to be held in the community building at Wakefield next Saturday, beginning at 11 a. m.

Requests for information about the Upper Peninsula have been received steadily by the council, and all winter sports clubs and communities are asked to cooperate with the council in maintaining a file of up-to-date information.

Delegates to the meeting in Wakefield are asked to be prepared to supply full information regarding the winter sports program and facilities for winter recreation in their respective communities.

Officers of the council are Gordon B. Heughens, Marquette, president; Fred Siebert, Gladstone, vice-president, and Mrs. G. C. Meyland, Marquette, executive secretary.

The little beetle, niptus hololeucus, is so tough that it can live in the cork of a bottle filled with cyanide.

COOKING DRIED BEANS, PEAS
When parboiling dried beans before baking, add ½ teaspoon of baking soda to each two cups of soaked beans. This makes the beans tender in a shorter time, and sweeter in flavor when baked. All dried beans, lima, kidney, navy or soy beans, also dried peas, have a better flavor if boiled with a pinch of baking soda.

Shortage of Gas

THE expanded use of city gas as a source of fuel for house heating in Escanaba apparently will be stymied, temporarily at least, by the limited capacity of the city's gas plant. This was evidenced by the announcement that no additional customers for home heating will be accepted by the city until further notice.

This condition is rather unfortunate because it comes at a time when fuel oil for house heating also is in limited supply and no encouragement is being offered to new customers seeking to heat their homes with oil.

The expanded use of both gas and oil for house heating is desirable from the public standpoint because it would serve to reduce the pall of smoke and soot that now floods the city from countless coal burners. It is desirable further as a means of stimulating competition in the fuel industry and thereby serve as a check against high fuel costs.

There is small prospect that natural gas pipelines will be extended to Escanaba in the foreseeable future because of the diminishing known reserves of natural gas.

The marked increase in consumption of manufactured gas in Escanaba has developed because of two factors. One is the population increase and the other, equally important, is the increased per capita usage by the city's gas customers. There is small prospect of any reversal of this trend.

Ultimately the city will have to decide whether to expand its gas manufacturing capacity to meet the increased demand or to find some other way out of the dilemma. Many communities are turning to propane gas as a solution to their problem.

Barrier to News

A SPECIAL budget committee of the legislature is checking up on the cost of publicity expenditures by state departments with the view of curtailment, action which will get a sympathetic nod of approval from a majority of the newspapers in the state.

So-called public relations divisions of state departments ostensibly are established to help newspapers and others to get information concerning the activities of state departments, but all too often the public relations setups serve as a barrier to a free flow of information. This condition develops because of the requirement that information requests must be cleared through the public relations division instead of reaching directly to the state department official who possesses the information that is being sought.

There is some agitation for complete abolition of the departmental press bureau and substitution of a central bureau which would disseminate information for all of the various state departments. This solution would be like jumping from the frying pan into the fire, as far as the newspapers of the state are concerned. It would serve only to increase the delays in securing information about state departments and their activities. Even worse, such a setup would inevitably result in suppression of some news and a form of censorship.

The objection of many newspapers to the operation of so-called public relations divisions is not directed solely at governmental bureaus. Many private corporations have organized their bureaus along the same lines.

Tobin Plans Suit

THE AFL Teamsters Union will test the validity of the ruling by Robert Denham, attorney for the National Labor Relations Board, that no AFL union can use the facilities of the NLRB unless all members of the AFL executive council sign non-Communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley act.

Officers of the Teamsters Union, headed by Daniel Tobin, have signed the non-Communist affidavits and contend that their union is a completely autonomous body within the AFL. Denham's ruling presumes that the AFL executive council has jurisdiction over all AFL affiliates in so far as top-level planning is concerned.

Tobin's action has developed because of the refusal of John L. Lewis to sign the affidavit as one of the 15 members of the AFL executive council, although all remaining members of the council were prepared to sign.

It is well that a court determination be made of the validity of the Denham ruling as early as possible because enforcement of a substantial part of the Taft-Hartley act depends upon the result. The ruling of the NLRB attorney is one based upon reason because unless the AFL executive council does have a measured degree of authority over its affiliated unions, as Denham contends, the entire structure of the AFL is more loosely knit than the general public has had cause to believe. If the executive council does possess authority over AFL affiliated unions, the anti-Communist provision of the labor act would be meaningless if Communist leaders were permitted to act in positions of authority on the council.

The ultimate approach to the problem as far as the Teamsters Union is concerned, as well as other unions willing to observe the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act, may be to demand that Lewis either sign the non-Communist affidavit or yield his seat to someone who will do so.

Gandhi's Dream

INDIA, with about one-fifth of the world's population, received its independence on Aug. 15. The event marks the ending of more than 200 years of British rule, begun in the 18th century when Robert Clive conquered Bengal.

Freedom for India has been the dream of years for millions of East Indians and their saint, Mahatma Gandhi. But it has come about not as the single, unified India that Gandhi envisioned, but as the Union of India and Pakistan. These states are called dominions, but the transfer of power from Britain is total, and no British rights are reserved. They may withdraw from the British commonwealth if they choose, or one may stay and the other may go.

There was a period of great rejoicing in many parts of old India when their own flags replaced the Union Jack. A tricolor of saffron, white and green is the emblem of India, while Pakistan has a green and white flag. But the rejoicing has been dampened considerably by riots and killings among various religious sects. The strong hand of Britain prevented such folly for many decades, but today the sects are cutting each other's throats.

The Hindu provinces are predominant in population, with an area of about 1,200,000 square miles, including most of the native states, and 300 million people. The capital is New Delhi, population 95,000, in north Central India. The governor-general is Lord Mountbatten, elected by the Indians themselves. Its premier and foreign minister is Jawahar Nehru, moderate Socialist and leader of the Congress party. India plans to adopt a democratic constitution, including a bill of rights patterned after that of the United States.

Pakistan comprises the Moslem provinces in northwest and northeast India. Its area is 300,000 square miles, and it has a population of 100 million. The capital is Karachi, a busy west coast port. Poor in industry and resources, Pakistan is largely agricultural. Mohammed Ali Jinnah is governor-general, leader of the Pakistan Assembly, and president of the Moslem League. Pakistan's constitution will be based on the Koran, sacred book of the Mohammedans.

IF IN DOUBT—DON'T

(Christian Science Monitor)

To cash or not to cash?

That is the question some nine million veterans have been facing ever since Congress, yielding to pressures, set forward the date when GI terminal leave bonds may be turned in for redemption at current values. Quite a few thousand have already made up their minds—or thoughtlessly followed others—and cashed them. Probably a good many more have firmly decided to keep their bonds until they mature. Others may be wavering.

To any veteran "on the fence" we would say most earnestly: Think twice. If in doubt, don't cash. You can always cash your bond later for good reason. If you cash it now and spend your money, you can't get it back.

Ask yourself: "Has that rainy day really come? If I cash my bond now, how will that excuse I am giving myself look a few years hence?"

Furthermore, every bond that isn't cashed prematurely helps the whole country. As one ex-GI, with just one $214 bond (the average), you may find it hard to see this. But of all the reasons back of the high cost of living, perhaps the biggest is the fact that a lot of people have a lot of money they can't wait to spend for things that are still scarce.

Don't add yourself and your money to those "lots" unless you have to.

The Veterans Administration in Washington kicked because employees dashed madly out of the building when five o'clock came. Didn't like the way they were running things, huh?

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

A reader asks, "Is there really a town in Arizona named 'Salome, Where She Danced'?"

There is such a town, and I have passed through it on driving to California. It is in southwestern Arizona about 50 miles from the California border.

Judge Sam Haydis of Salome tells me that the townsite was established in 1904 by the late Dirk Wick Hall, a colorful and eccentric person, whose autobiography appeared in the Saturday Evening Post of May 30, 1925.

Hall literally was the man about town for he was mayor, justice of the peace, saloon and dance-hall proprietor, and general factotum of the little desert town.

Dick Wick Hall named the place after a dancing girl with a small theatrical troupe which gave a performance or two there. She, Salome, told Hall that the sands of the town were so hot that she had to dance to keep her feet cool. Whereupon Hall at once declared the name of the town to be: Salome, Where She Danced. I recently explained here that the name

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CCHILD

Geneva, Switzerland—All through the long, bright summer and into September, this beautiful city by the clear blue lake has been the scene of one conference after another. Men with bulging brief cases have come and gone, talking the language of the conference, a language almost as formalized as the ritual of an ancient religion.

They have met in the palace of the old League of Nations, which inevitably has a somewhat depressing atmosphere. It is kept with immaculate care by the Swiss. The corridors and the conference rooms are cleaned and polished to a point of glistening and almost sterile purity. The flowerbeds and the trees are clipped and tended so that not a leaf is out of place.

—MONUMENT TO FAILURE—
Yet nevertheless it is a monument to a failure, and the sense of this weighs upon the men and women who pass along the high, gleaming corridors. This time, the need for cooperation is so much more desperate and the obstacles are far more threatening.

That was abundantly clear in the conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization, one of the more vigorous and meaningful branches of the United Nations. When the delegates of every nation had reported on their food supply, it was evident that the food picture was darker than at any time since the war. To make the available supply go around would therefore be much more difficult than in those years in which starvation seemed to hover always on the doorstep.

The arithmetic is simple. The bare minimum of food grains essential for the coming 12 months was put at 38,000,000 tons. A few months ago it was thought that at least 32,000,000 tons were in sight. Here, when all the adding was done, the final figure was 29,000,000, which spells H-U-N-G-E-R in many countries for millions of people.

A complication is the fact that many nations no longer have the proper kind of money—hard currency is the harsh phrase—to buy food even where it is in surplus. That is a factor, of course, overshadowing every attempt at economic agreement in this age of crisis.

At the same time that they added up available food supplies, the FAO delegates also considered the world need for the kind of things that in the long pull will mean greater agricultural production—machinery, fertilizers. The war put such necessities out of reach for almost every country and so the deficit is now great.

The total need that came out was a staggering one and, naturally, the delegates looked hopefully to America to make up most of it. They were told frankly that such a hope was quite unrealistic, and the estimate was in the end greatly reduced.

While the FAO conference was at times weighed down with despair and again swept into the never-never land of wishful thinking, this organization is moving fairly rapidly toward a practical goal. That goal is a world food council with powers to allocate supplies to needy countries.

—TRADE GROUP ORGANIZING—
Behind the long step forward that FAO is taking is a remarkable Scotsman, Sir John Boyd Orr, FAO's director general. He aimed originally at a food board with powers to sell and resell in the world's markets. When that was impossible, he accepted a compromise that represented an advance toward the kind of world in which, as Sir John passionately believes, hunger will be abolished.

While the FAO meeting was going on, another marathon conference was continuing. For more than three months delegates worked at framing the charter of an international trade organization built around the American concept of free trade. Later they will meet in Cuba to try to put into practical effect the ideal embodied in the charter.

Whether they will succeed is quite another matter. Both in Europe and America there are grave doubts whether the world is ready for the ITO. At times the trade delegates felt as though they were moving in a beautiful squirrel cage, round and round and round, and getting nowhere. Perhaps in this stage of beginning recovery—measurable only by microscope—Europe cannot afford free trade. And there is great uncertainty whether the ITO will be approved by the senate in Washington.

But the delegates come and go. They talk with reason and logic. They talk with earnestness and idealism even when the headlines that mirror events outside this curious little paradise of Switzerland say something quite different.

Answer: I'm afraid you misunderstood my article. The question was not about the name of the California town; it was about the name of Saint Helena, mother of Constantine the Great, and reputed finder of the Cross on which Christ perished. She died A. D. 330. Her name is pronounced HELL-en-uh. But your town, which was named for her, is pronounced heh-LEE-nuh.

After All, It's the Cat's Natural Reaction

Good Morning!

IMPROPER LOBBYING—A special committee of the Michigan State Bar has labored for three years on a report intended to be helpful in curbing Lansing lobbyists and has brought forth a mouse.

It is a sickly little mouse, at that.

The report was requested by former Gov. Harry F. Kelly and the State Bar committee started its labors in 1944. That was back in the days when the legislature was under fire by the Carr-Sigler grand jury. It is now a matter of history that a number of the legislators and lobbyists were jailed or fined, one legislator was murdered, one committed suicide, another died under circumstances indicating suicide. Riding the crest of the wave of popularity that brought him national attention for his bribery-busting work, Sigler was elected governor on his promise to "complete" the job. This is a clear indication on the part of the voters that they want clean government.

UP TO LEGISLATURE—The State Bar committee hit on one fundamental of the problem when it reported that the legislature can, under its own rules, make it tough for the unscrupulous lobbyist.

In other words, all the legislature—or the individual legislator—has to do is follow legislative rules and there will be no lobbyist problem. That is so simple an answer, of course, that neither the legislature nor the State Bar committee could be expected to stop there. The voters may well ask, however, why it is necessary for any governor or any legislator or any voter to request a committee of lawyers to draft a report on control of lobbying.

It is all there in the legislative rules in the first place and all that is needed is adherence to the rules.

Overlooked by the State Bar committee that prepared the report, and the governor who requested the report was the apparent willingness of too many legislators to become a party to improper lobbying practices.

PERSONAL INTEGRITY—Candidates seeking public office describe themselves, or are described as, men of honesty and integrity. Few men are elected to the legislature on a platform of dishonesty, deceit and faithlessness.

There are base and weak men elected to public office, however, and for this reason the legislature has rules to protect itself and the people against their actions. Even for the most honest and faithful legislator, the rules prove a bulwark and an aid against the machinations of those who would seek to control government by bribery and other forms of improper pressure.

Michigan's legislature is made up of individuals. They come from many walks of life and represent many interests and aspects of the business and political fabric of the state. Yet in seeking public office they should have one thing in common—a sincere devotion to the people and the government they serve. Lacking this they become only political pawns moved by the highest bidder.

WHAT IS LEGAL—It is perhaps typical that the State Bar committee has overlooked the obligation of moral integrity and discusses the "legal" obligation of the legislature in connection with improper lobbying.

The committee conceded that it is difficult to define proper lobbying by statute or to define corrupt methods of lobbying.

"Except for bribery it is difficult to define," the committee said. "Someone has asked, is it as bad to exchange election promises for votes as it is to sell votes for money?"

We don't know who that "someone" was, as quoted by the committee, but it sounds too much like the questioner was more interested in quibbling and obfuscation than in defining honesty and dishonesty.

THE DIFFERENCE—If it will help the State Bar committee, the governor and the legislature, here is our opinion on the question.

The man who seeks election or reelection to public office must make certain statements or promises as to what his conduct and policy will be if he is elected by the people. If his outline appeals to a majority of the voters he is elected. The voters take for granted that he will be honest with them.

Once that man is elected to the legislature, let us say, he then represents not himself but the people in his district. If he should sell his vote for money he is doubly dishonest—to himself and the oath of office he has taken, and to the citizens who have placed their confidence in him on the basis of his promises.

LOBBIES WITHIN LOBBIES—Only the fundamentally honest man can withstand the high-pressure methods of lobbyists whether they offer money or other favors. If the Michigan legislature so desired it could make collective honesty the keyword in dealing with lobbyists and there would be no problem.

It is true that lobbyists and pressure groups sometimes represent good causes. Yet if they practice morally dishonest methods to achieve their ends the evil effect

Q. Why are clouds higher on a fine day?

A. Because there is less moisture in the atmosphere therefore they are lighter and more buoyant.

Q. Are Filipinos who served in recognized guerrilla forces in the Philippines during the Japanese occupation of the Philippines eligible for benefits under the U.S. compensation and pension laws for veterans?

A. Yes. While more than 1,000,000 have claimed such service, the War Department estimates that about 338,000 will be officially recognized. Only a small percentage of this number can be expected to qualify for compensation and pension benefits. To be eligible for benefits a person must have served with the U.S. armed forces and his service must either have been a matter of record or he must be certified by the U.S. forces. If he served with an "irregular" force, his service must have been under the command of a commissioned officer of the U.S. Army, Navy or Marine Corps, or of the Commonwealth Army recognized by and cooperating with the U.S. forces.

Q. Can you tell me how to remove white paint from a mahogany dresser without marring the finish of the dresser?

A. Spread linseed oil over the white paint spot, allow to stand till the white paint softens, then wipe off with a dry cloth. Use rotten-stone and linseed oil, mixed to a thin cream, to remove the remainder.

Q. When were hats invented?

A. They were invented by Pansion, a Swiss, in 1404. However, in 1510, a Spaniard in London, England, was the first to manufacture them.

upon the legislature will far outweigh the good accomplished. It is true that many state departments conduct active lobbying programs among the legislators, giving out flattery and favors with experienced finesse. And it is true that Lansing is filled with professional lobbyists who are now required to register their names—but whose activities will in no way be controlled thereby.

The State Bar committee's report sheds no new light on a situation that is older than government itself. Men have been bought and sold since before the dawn of recorded civilization.

Washington—Words certain statesmen would like to forget (made during the OPA debates one year ago):

Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Nebraska Republican—"Taft! Taft! Everybody's always talking about what Taft has done to OPA. I'm the fellow that knocked out meat control, and I've done more to that bill than anybody else."

Rep. John Taber, New York Republican—"OPA is at present time the chief promoter of inflation."

Sen. Robert Taft, Ohio Republican—"Prices somewhat higher than normal tend to increase production. We certainly should not force such a reduction of prices as to interfere with more production."

Rep. Reid F. Murray, Wisconsin Republican—"I do not care to vote for any more money for the OPA and thus increase the dangers of starvation . . . Chester Bowles and the other agencies are there to keep businessmen from making a profit."

Rep. Henry D. Larcade Jr., Louisiana Democrat—"OPA was run in a high-handed, dictatorial and discriminating manner, treating not only the members of Congress but the people of the country as a whole with disdain, disrespect and discourtesy."

Rep. Chase Woodhouse, Connecticut Democrat—"Let us have the courage to face a few more months of orderly decontrol as the price of economic stability and peace."

Rep. Jessie Sumner, Illinois Republican—"Subsidies are just OPA's black-market way of concealing the fact the cost of living is going up and up and your money is buying less and less and less."

Rep. William Lemke, North Dakota Republican—"Today the question is should the OPA be liquidated—abolished? My answer is that it should never have been created. It is an un-American, illegitimate child. It was born of foreign parentage."

Rep. Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska Republican—"OPA is a sham and a fraud. It is one of the prime causes of inflation."

Rep. Edward O. Mc Cowen, Ohio Republican—"Let us make the break now, and then let the price-control act die its natural death. There will be confusion for a few months . . . Then confusion will end, prices will be stabilized and production will be normal and sufficient."

—SUPREME COURT SANCTITY—

Most sacred spot in all Washington is the inner sanctum of the supreme court. This is where the justices work out their opinions, and no one except the black-robed nine and a few court functionaries enter. Almost equally exclusive is the room just outside the supreme court conference chamber. Fewer people enter here than the office of the president of the United States.

One person who never worries about supreme court sanctity, however, is vivacious Miss "JoJo" Black, 15-year-old daughter of Justice Hugo Black. Like her father, JoJo believes in getting things done.

Once, during a highly exclusive supreme court conference, Justice Black got a telephone call from his home. Ordinarily calls are not put through to supreme court members while they are in conference. But this was important. Delightful daughter JoJo wanted to tell her Daddy that she needed a carpenter to fix her closet door. And later, the Justice found JoJo sitting just outside the conference room, where nobody else sits, waiting for him to tend to her much more important problems.

—IN THE LION'S MOUTH—

Industrialist Henry Kaiser put his head in a lion's mouth the other day, wound up naving the lion thank him for the experience.

The lion in this case was Pennsylvania's crusty G.O.P. Congressman Robert Rich who rises during almost every house appropriations debate to chant, "where are we going to get the money?"

Last week Rich publicly warned he would demand a complete investigation of the RFC if it scaled down some $35,000,000 of wartime costs owed it by Kaiser for building the Fontana steel plant in California.

Burned up at Rich's charge, Kaiser appeared, uninvited, next day at a meeting of the investigating committee of which Rich is a member. Storming into the meeting, Kaiser demanded an immediate probe of himself and the RFC.

Not many people ask for congressional investigations, but Kaiser did—and got it—Thanks to fair-minded Chairman Bender of Ohio.

—MERRY-GO-ROUND—

The air forces is keeping it quiet for the sake of the other services but it has been snowed under with applications from former army, navy and marine officers—beginning for enlisted status in the air corps. More than 24,000 applications have poured into recruiting offices from ranks as high as navy captain and army colonel. Those who can meet the air corps' tough standards are assigned new ranks, ranging from corporal to master sergeant . . . Although enlistments are booming under the impetus of a vigorous recruiting drive, the air corps is still short 67,000 enlisted men.

A circus advertises 100 clowns. The one usually going on in Washington is still ahead.

School Building Improved

Many improvements have been made in the school building during the past month at the Mathias township schools at Trenary. Five of the second floor rooms received a new paint job during August. The library room just off of the assembly hall has undergone a great change. New senior and junior editions of the Encyclopedia Britannica have been added in the references now available in the library. Some new books are ordered and will be added soon for use in the library.

The manual arts department in the basement of the school has been reorganized this year and this shop, room is undergoing many changes at the present time. New equipment and tools are being placed in the shop and the shop classes are making the necessary room improvements. Francis Dishnow is the new shop instructor and it is under his direction that this department in the school is being brought up to par once again.

Careless Landing, Reckless Stunting Of Planes Rapped

Lansing—(AP)—Continued reckless flying will result in loss of public confidence and create demands for strict regulations which may retard the development of aviation, State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard Monday told the state police's first air safety school.

Leonard declared that the most common violations of aviation regulations were low flying over cities, careless landing of seaplanes at resort lakes, buzzing and reckless stunting.

He said 285 aircraft complaints were investigated in the first eight months of 1947, compared with 209 in all of last year.

This year there have been 85 aircraft accidents in 45 counties, he said with 31 persons killed and 51 injured. Twenty-five of the accidents were due to low or acrobatic flying, the Commissioner said.

Sixty-five police officers, including three from Detroit and representatives of all state police posts are attending the instructional school.

Festival To Rebate 60% To Underwriters

The Hiawathaland Festival committee closed its books after a meeting at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office yesterday and announced that a 60 per cent rebate will be made on contributions from the celebration's underwriters.

Receipts from program advertising, pageant tickets and underwriter's donations totaled $14,817.26 and total expenditures were $13,363.40, leaving a balance of $1,453.86.

In addition, the city of Escanaba expended more than $2,600 for labor, electric power and other services furnished in the staging of the festival.

Dishnow is the new shop instructor and it is under his direction that this department in the school is being brought up to par once again.

ELECTION LAWS
2408 18th St. Detroit 16 Mi. ch.
Sept. 13, 1947
The Escanaba Daily Press

Sirs: Publicity for Detroit's fantastic way of getting city officials and the story of what that has done to our state election laws and methods will help to correct a very serious danger. For before long there will be a vote on a new state Constitution. You want an honest count on that vote. You stand little chance of getting it when a third of the votes of the state are counted behind locked doors and with no chance for a challenger to verify that count.

Have some of your subscribers here who have not been in Detroit too long get down to his polling place and report to you how the votes are counted. Oct. 7, he ought to be able to get a challenger card from his county chairman, although this city bluff for years that party challenger cards were no good at city elections. Naturally, they are, since it is not a city ordinance they are going under, but state law. But law means nothing to this city hall crowd. I tried to buy a copy of the registration list the day after registration closed last fall and threatened a mandamus to get one when it was refused. "Just you try going to court in this county, Mrs. Hopkins, and see how far you get," said Oakley Distin, chief election officer. Edwards, president of the city council, stood by and thought I was very unreasonable because I was not satisfied with the list of the previous May 15th. That is all any one could get after registration closes this week. You know that the lack of that list allows all kinds of illegal votes to get in.

If he does get in he will not be able to swear that everything was done correctly, for there will be quite a number of groups arriving at election results at one time. At general election one person will count the votes for president, now that that is on a separate ticket. Some one else will have part of the ballots, they check each other. But no challenger sees the ballots any more than he sees the "straights" or the "yes" and "no" votes. One group takes part of the ballots and tally for the state ticket, another with part of the ballots tally congressional and state senatorial, another the state representative and another the county ticket. I have watched many groups, they look as though I were being bad-mannered if I look over any one's shoulder. The Detroit city hall has whitelashed away safeguard after safeguard. This last session they got a law passed allowing for the destruction of the ballots seven days after results are known. Why? those ballots were in the ballot boxes bothering no one and would have stayed there until the boxes were needed again. Labor Unions make them keep the ballots a year.

We need strong political parties, these pressure groups in Detroit are under no control by law as are political parties, a third of the votes of the state ruled by such pressure groups in not good government. Watch every election bill originating in Detroit. They tried in 1937 to get a bill passed that removed the penalty for interfering with a challenger. Respectfully yours,

Mrs. Mary P. Hopkins.

Meningitis Cured By Sulfa Drugs

New York, (SS)—Sulfa drug cures of meningitis in cases in which penicillin and streptomycin failed were reported by Drs. A. A. L. Londe and W. James Gardner of Cleveland at the meeting here of the American College of Surgeons.

The sulfa drug was made more efficient, or potentiated as the scientists phrased it, by giving with it another chemical, urea. One of their patients was a 31-year-old man who had a bad skull fracture. Penicillin and sulfadiazine were given in the hope warding off the meningitis which the doctors feared would occur. But meningitis developed while the patient was getting these two drugs. Streptomycin was then given by injection into the spinal canal, but this had to be stopped because it gave him excruciating leg pain. Sulfadiazine was then given with urea and the patient got well.

State Officer Lauds Delta Guard Company

Company C, Delta county National Guard unit, has an excellent chance of being the first unit in the state to reach its top authorized strength.

With a current membership of 85, the Delta unit is aiming at 129, its authorized strength under War Department regulations. Company C's membership is twice that of any other unit in the Upper Peninsula.

The Delta company was commissioned yesterday by Maj. W. J. Myers, state information and intelligence officer, for leading the recruiting drive which opened yesterday on National Guard day and will continue until Nov. 16.

Membership is open to any resident of Delta county between 17 and 35 years of age or older if the applicant has previous military service. All men interested are asked to report to Capt. Roy Johnson, company commander, at the State Fairgrounds Armory during drill tonight, from 7:30 to 9:30.

For the first time in its history, the Michigan National Guard yesterday appealed throughout the state for local civic support.

The Guard units, disbanded on their discharge from Federal service at the end of the war are "flat broke," he said, and need community support to get their recruiting programs under way. Some states have contributed as much as $60,000 to their National Guard divisions but Michigan has made no contribution, he said, and the Guard is forced to rely on local financial assistance.

He declared that headquarters was disturbed at the lack of local support for new units in some communities, adding that "a few units are going to be moved for lack of support," while other communities were "begging for units."

A Guard unit, he said, is a substantial security and economic support to a city. A rifle regiment, he asserted, would spend $48,000 a year in wages alone. "Albion is a shining example," he said, "of a town which never had a National Guard unit in its pre-war history and wanted one badly. The city donated and financed an armory building which will be paid for in 10 years out of lease rentals. Now Albion has one of the best field batteries in the 943rd Field Artillery."

Cone Pickers Get Official Warning Against Trespass

As a result of numerous complaints that pine cone pickers are trespassing on property, the Michigan Department of Conservation office here yesterday revealed that it will require all persons offering red pine cones for sale to the department to disclose where the cones were picked. In cases where the cones were taken from property not owned by the picker, written permits from property owners will be required.

The department is offering $5 a bushel for red pine cones and will purchase all red pine cones that can be secured.

DISCUSS DELTA ROAD FINANCES

Overdraft Of $40,000 Is Expected Before Tax Funds Received

Financial problems of the Delta county road commission, which will mean an expected $40,000 overdraft by March 1, 1948, were discussed Monday by the commission with Supervisors Harold Gustafson and Ensign, county board chairman, and C. W. Stoll, Escanaba, the board's finance committee chairman.

The road commission invited Gustafson and Stoll to meet with it in an effort to have the county aid financially if the commission must overdraw to continue operations this winter. The county general fund would be reimbursed as soon as the road commission received an advance on its first quarter weight tax payment next spring. In the first quarter payment of the weight tax the county road commission expects to receive about $100,000.

The overdraft is expected to occur within the first three months of the new year and would not exceed $40,000, according to J. T. Sharpsteen, commission superintendent-engineer. The road commission would reimburse the county as soon as its advance weight tax payment is received.

If approved the arrangement would be similar to that in which overdrafts by the county have been met by county road commission funds.

In an effort to maintain a normal snow removal program, despite the anticipated fund shortage, the road commission queried the townships on the possibility of their contributing surplus township funds to the road commission for snow removal within the township.

The commission at its Monday meeting discussed a letter received from Supervisor Fred Holmes of Cornell township. The commission was informed that Cornell township has no surplus funds. It has $1,900 but it plans repairs to the township hall. It receives $2,930 from the state sales tax. It was suggested by Holmes that the commission request the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone to divert sales tax money to keep the roads open in the townships. Holmes pointed out that Escanaba and Gladstone receive $94,059.50 in sales tax while the townships get only $65,421.75.

Sharpsteen directed the commission's attention to its loss under the changes made by the legislature following the sales tax redistribution amendment passage. The commission this year loses $35,000 (approximately the amount of its anticipated overdraft) in returns from liquor tax revenue.

The road commission also discussed with the county board representatives the need for a better maintenance and development program for county parks, particularly Pioneer Trail, where toilets, stoves, tables and other equipment and facilities are needed.

Elaine M. Taylor, Maurice Gauthier Wed At Schaffer

The altar of Sacred Heart church in Schaffer, banked with gladioli of pastel tints, was the setting of the double ring ceremony at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, at which Elaine Marie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Taylor, became the bride of Maurice Gauthier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gauthier.

The vows were spoken before Rev. Fr. Wilfred Pelletier who was celebrant of the nuptial high mass. The young girls' choir, with Mrs. Blanche Seymour, organist, sang the music of the mass, the hymn, "Ave Maria" by Eduardo Marzà was sung at the Offertory by Mrs. Royal Seymour, and at the close of the mass, as the bride placed her bouquet on the Blessed Virgin's altar, the choir sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown, made with a fitted peplum bodice of faille, net yoke and high neckline, leg o' mutton sleeves and a full skirt with overskirt of net, which formed a long train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was caught to a crown of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was formed of white pompons and red roses and she carried a white prayer book, the gift of the bridegroom.

Afternoon Reception

The bride's sister, Olive, who was maid of honor, wore aqua taffeta, the gown made with a shirred bodice, sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. She wore aqua colored flowers in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet with contrasting ribbons. The bridesmaids were Elize Gauthier, who wore gold taffeta; Mary Margaret Kolb, who was dressed in dusty rose, and Jacqueline Gauthier, who wore teal blue. Little Karen Jean Toustignant, the bride's cousin, wore a floor length frock of pale pink taffeta. The bridesmaids and flower girl wore flowers in their hair and carried colonial bouquets. All the attendants wore pearl necklaces, the gift of the bride.

Royal Taylor, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Ray Gauthier and Arnold Taylor.

Mrs. Taylor, for her daughter's wedding, wore a black silk dress with black and white accessories and a white corsage. Mrs. Gauthier also wore black with black and white accessories and her shoulder bouquet was of white flowers.

A wedding breakfast for immediate relatives was served at Belle's Coffee shop and a reception was held at the Gauthier home in the afternoon. A wedding supper for fifty guests was served at Parker's Inn in Spalding. Flowers and the tiered wedding cake formed the decorations.

For Lakefield
Pioneer

William N. Bryers, 74, one of the earliest settlers at Lakefield, in the Manistique Lakes area, died Sunday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lester Richards, 325 Oak street. He had been in ill health for two years. He came to Manistique about a month ago.

Mr. Bryers was born in Bracebridge, Ontario, on February 6, 1873 and came to these parts with his parents when he was a child of nine. His father homesteaded on the site of the old farm home where he resided up to a few weeks ago.

Surviving him are his widow, Della; a daughter, Mrs. Lester Richards; three sons, Carl, of Newberry; Emory, of Detroit; and Floyd of Lakefield. There are also 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Beaulieu Funeral home and burial will be in the Lakefield cemetery.

Rapid River

Person-Palmer Wedding

Rapid River, Mich.—Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Eva Marie Person, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Person of Bakersfield, Calif., formerly of Rapid River and Clinton Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Palmer of Eaton Rapids. The ceremony was performed Sept. 7, at the Ford Palmer home in Eaton Rapids, Rev. J. Breck, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiating.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Edith May Johnson of Whitefish, now employed in Saginaw. Darwin Palmer served his brother as best man.

The bride wore a dressmakers suit of tan and the bridesmaid wore brown taffeta. The bride, a graduate of Rapid River high school, also a graduate of Michigan State college in medical technology. The groom is attending M.S.C. studying horticulture.

A reception was held at the Palmer home following the ceremony. The young couple are honeymooning in the Upper Peninsula. Last week they spent at Manistig, this week they are at the Eddie Johnson home in Whitefish. They will reside in East Lansing till the groom finishes school.

Extension Services

Veteran Affairs Still Need Local Facility

Assistance in solving the veteran's problems and in making the best possible use of federal and state legislation passed for his benefit is still a very necessary service, the Schoolcraft County Council of Veterans' Affairs reveals in its periodic financial statement of recent date.

Of 2,235 veterans contacted from January 1 through July 31 of this year, 66 were veterans of World War I and 1,967 of World War II. Of this number 192 were new contacts while 1,841 were repeat contacts. There were also 70 new contacts with relatives and 132 repeat contacts. According to all indications, the total number of contacts at this office in the current year will exceed those of last because of the passage this year of the Michigan veterans' military pay act.

During the past year 24 veterans were assisted by this office in obtaining hospitalization. Transportation was obtained at no cost to tended and a most enjoyable evening spent. The choir members served a very nice lunch and the honored guest was presented with a gift. Buddy left Friday for Kitchener, Ontario, Canada where he will enroll at St. Jerome's Seminary.

Safety Precautions Taken

Last spring a discussion was held at a P.T.A. meeting, when the danger of the school children crossing the highway was taken up and suggestions for measures of safety were discussed. Although there is a flash light overhead at the junction little attention is paid to it by passing motorists.

Last week two iron men were delivered that were bought by the local Lions club and placed on the highway, during time children will be crossing to and from school. The man at the west side is taken care of by Ray Callahan of the Shell station and the one on the east side by Ned Short of the DX station. Also as a precautionary measure high school students are policing the youngsters across the highway when the kindergarten and lower grades are dismissed, as this is a very dangerous intersection.

Con Gabriel Hurt
In Shallow Dive
Accident At Soo

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 16.—Con Gabriel, of 1606 18th street, Sault Ste. Marie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gabriel, Gladstone, suffered severe spine injuries and arm and leg paralysis as a result of apparently striking his head on the bottom when he dived from the dock at the Chester Stanaway cottage near Munuscong about 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

He was brought to the War Memorial hospital in the Sibley ambulance and is said to have spent a fairly good night.

His injuries were described by his physician as "serious." X-rays were being taken this morning. Stanaway said this morning that Gabriel came to the cabin in the afternoon for supper. When the accident occurred the party of six was just getting ready to eat.

Officers Chosen By
Seventh Graders

Seventh grade officers at the Gladstone junior high school have been selected. Donald Olson heads the class as president with Jack Holm vice president, Joyce Swanson secretary and Gary Nieuwenkamp treasurer. Arlene Green and Joyce Swanson were named to the student council.

TO ESTABLISH
FUNERAL HOMEEscanaban To Locate
Here; Zoning Law
Is Changed

After a public hearing at which no one appeared to object, the city commission Monday evening adopted an ordinance which amends the local zoning ordinance so as to allow establishment of a funeral parlor in a Class A residential district.

The ordinance was specifically designed to allow the use of the Bushong home at 706 Wisconsin avenue for funeral home purposes.

John Skradski, of Escanaba, a licensed embalmer, has indicated his intention of establishing a funeral home in the structure at 706 Wisconsin avenue provided zoning was changed so as to allow it.

Negotiations for the transfer of the property are being handled by Charles Burton, local realtor.

Purchase of a new stoker to fire the boiler at the city hall from the Cloverland Milling and Supply company, at a cost of $659 was authorized by the commission. The Cloverland bid was not the lowest received but the firm can make immediate delivery, which was a factor considered by the governing body in awarding the business.

The present stoker has been in the building since its erection in 1936 and was considered overworked at a time when the municipal garage was being heated from the city hall.

ENTIRE TOWNS
WIPED OUT IN

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters at Yokohama Monday night.

It destroyed homes, crops, bridges, railroads, highways, communications, and—possibly most damaging—many dikes, releasing river waters to flood a large area north of Tokyo and to threaten this capital city.

Thousands of Japanese worked through the night erecting temporary dikes near Kasukabe, 20 miles north of Tokyo, in a battle of time against the onrushing waters of two rivers—the Tone and Arakawa.

Nine inches of rain was reported at the Tone's headwaters and more than 4 inches through much of Honshu.

Refugee In Hills

Nipponese newspapers warned that failure to halt the rivers, which were reported to be three feet over their banks in some places, would subject the eastern portion of Tokyo to floods.

Thousands of Japanese took refuge on hills, house-tops, levees—any high point. One prefecture reported 160,000 already on relief.

Reports indicated there were two main flood areas: one across Tochigi and Gumma prefectures 40 miles north of Tokyo; the other south of a smashed levee in the Tone river about 25 miles north of the capital.

The Tone, one of Japan's largest rivers and long a flood menace, had been controlled in recent years by extensive levee construction. It winds some 150 miles from Maebashi in Gumma prefecture to its mouth on Chiba peninsula, across Tokyo bay from this city.

Metropolitan relief headquarters were alerted in Adachi and Kojima wards in eastern Tokyo, where already 10,000 Japanese were on relief.

U. S. Army agencies were cooperating with the Japanese, both in planning relief and in attempting to stem the floods.

All Japanese government ministries closed on schedule for the night, delaying official Nipponese compilation of casualty figures.

State Of War With Austria Ended By Britain, No Treaty

London, Sept. 16 (AP)—Britain ended today a formal state of war with Austria in order to permit "commercial and financial dealings," and cited four-power failure to agree on an Austrian peace treaty as one reason for the action.

A three-line statement appeared in today's issue of the London Gazette announcing the surprise move, together with the text of a note handed to the Austrian government in Vienna. A foreign office spokesman said the act was not to be regarded as a "separate peace" because Britain still hoped the Big Four would agree on a peace treaty.

Source Of Typhoid
Infection Sought
In Saginaw Region

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 16 (AP)—City and Saginaw county health officials met today with state officials in an effort to trace the source of a typhoid fever infection.

The city water supply was ruled out as a possible source for the four typhoid cases reported within the last ten days.

Since the 1937 outbreak which was laid to a contaminated surface well in the community of St. Charles, there have been no more than three cases a year, records show.

The current cases have been described as unusually severe though none has been fatal. Citizens are being warned to take precautions, including vaccination and state testing of water from surface wells.

Water from such wells should be boiled before use, officials cautioned.

One of the four present cases is within the city and two are in townships adjacent to the city.

Health officials of Bay and Midland counties are cooperating with Saginaw county. Two deaths have been reported in Bay City.

Estonian Refugees
Cross Atlantic In 43-Foot Fish Sloop

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 16 (AP)—Twenty-four Estonian refugees, buffeted by gales and frequent high seas, arrived in Savannah today aboard a 43-foot fishing sloop and immigration official immediately ordered them transferred to Ellis Island.

John H. Scott, officer in charge of the Savannah Immigration and Naturalization Service, said Savannah lacked facilities to care for the 14 men, nine women and a 30-month-old boy.

The group left Gottenborg, Sweden, July 2, Arthur Schonburg, the vessel's owner, said.

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, Sept. 16, (AP)—Both of the major Truman administration measures for checking Communism and rebuilding Europe—the Truman doctrine and the Marshall plan—are due for an airing in the new session of the United Nations general assembly which opened today.

High-placed American delegation authorities say that if Russia does not force debate on the Truman-Marshall measures by challenging them—as expected—the United States itself may well have to introduce the subjects. The American delegation is considering taking the initiative anyway.

The idea as developed in delegation meetings, it was learned, is that the United States would add to the prestige of the general assembly and build up United States support for that body by submitting the two policies to discussion.

Veto Bid Handicap

This is considered important because the overall objective of American policy in the current assembly meeting is defined authoritatively as being to strengthen the assembly in every way possible to make up for the spreading paralysis in the Security Council due to Russia's repeated use of the veto.

This American government view will be reflected by Secretary Marshall tomorrow when he lays before the assembly in a full dress speech a statement of what the United States conceives to be the most urgent problems before the assembly and what it believes the assembly should do about them.

A draft of the speech has been submitted to President Truman, aboard the battleship Missouri, for his approval.

The three most urgent and dangerous international problems on which the U. N. might act, according to the American view, are Greece, Palestine and Korea. Marshall is demanding positive solutions for the Greek and Palestine crises, with strong and direct assembly intervention.

Meantime, the delegation had all but decided today to throw the Korean issue into the honor also, as soon as possible. The United States and Russia have been deadlocked for months on ways to restore Korean unity and independence.

When the Yugoslavs were told they could not proceed they called up reinforcements in battle formation.

Gen. Airey said the 12 Yanks held their ground and a battalion of American infantry was immediately sent up from reserve position with a full complement of armor and artillery.

The Allied military government said the American officer in charge brought up a tank and ordered the warning burst of machinegun fire.

Gen. Airey said the Yugoslavs thereafter indicated they would agree with the decision of the Allied Command and take the matter up on diplomatic level.

Go Easy On New Hour-Glass Shape,
Women Are Warned

Chicago, Sept. 16 (AP)—A leading corset manufacturer today warned women to be careful that the fashionable "new look" doesn't give them a "blue look" that accompanies gasping for air.

Adoption of "nineteenth century torture devices" as undergarments, Walter H. Lowy, vice president of the Formit Company said, would threaten women with "the greatest fashion hoax since the gay 90's."

The "new look," he added, "plans to popularize the hourglass figure and encase women in waist-pinching corsets that were proved ruinous to health 40 years ago."

"Most women—and men—believe in curves and indented waistline for the female figure," Lowy declared, "but they also want something new, something better—not something that grandmother finally discarded."

OLD HOSPITAL
BUSY IN GWINNGossard Has 12 Sewing

In Factory

Gwinn.—Those who claim that a better life for American workers will come about when industry is broken down and scattered through the green and sunny countryside have a talking point in this community.

Here the H. W. Gossard company, manufacturer of women's foundation garments sold the world over, has established an airy, well-lighted plant in what was once a hospital. With about hundred workers now, it will eventually employ 140, pump nearly $250,000 in wages annually into the economic bloodstream of this area.

It is a case of the factory going to the labor supply, to the advantage of both worker and management.

The Gossard company has plants at Ishpeming, at Lonsport and Huntington, Ind., and in Canada and Australia, in this country its sales organization is centered in Chicago, New York, Atlanta, Dallas and San Francisco.

618 Workers In Ishpeming

In Ishpeming, where the company has been established since 1920, it employs 618 workers, has a payroll of around a million. When impediments were encountered in expansion plans there, the management cast an eye about this county—and chose Gwinn.

This pleasant, tree-shaded village of about 1,000 population was built on iron ore.

About 1907, when the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company built it for its workers and named it for the industrialist, William Gwin Mather, it was one of the few communities to be found anywhere. Besides the houses, scattered on a site along the east branch of the Escanaba river, the company built a hospital, clubhouse, other civic structures.

Through its 40 years, Gwin has been known as the Model Town, and its high school athletic teams have carried the proud nickname, Model Towners.

Room To Community

Now the mines are closed—whether permanently isn't known, but at least indefinitely. Some of the breedwinners commute to active Ishpeming and Negaunee workings, others earn their living in pulpwood cutting. There are the usual service establishments, some employees of the corporation at a pumping station and utility, and so on.

Through the flames," Budreau said.

But the community, and the neighboring hamlets of New Swanzy and Princeton, and the outlying scattered families, can well use that quarter-million in wages. Now as in the future, the payroll goes to women—from youngsters of 18 just out of school to married women up to 60. In fact nearly three-quarters of Gossard workers here are married.

For its plant, the company bought from the Cleveland-Cliffs the long-unused hospital and the land it stands on. There was extensive remodeling. The numerous small rooms common to hospitals were converted into two big production rooms on the two floors plus store rooms and an office.

The building was re-roofed, reinforced with steel, a new heating plant with blower device was installed, fluorescent lighting put in, the walls and ceilings decorated in light shades, venetian blinds hung from the windows.

The two big, airy, well-lighted workrooms have 10 shafts which power the 120 sewing machines. Cutting is done in Ishpeming, trucked to Gwin, and the bundles are portioned out to workers for assembly. About 20 to 30 operations, including inspection are performed at this plant.

Bartender-Husband
Who Got Embezzled
$110,107 Disappears

Detroit, Sept. 16, (AP)—Police continued their inquiry today into the private transactions of the missing bartender-husband of Mrs. Lillian Jacobs, charged with a $110,107 embezzlement.

The woman's husband, William Jacobs, 46, vanished upon the arrest last Friday night of his 42-year-old spouse, veteran employee of the American Express Co., from which she is accused of taking the money.

In a statement to police Mrs. Jacobs was quoted as saying she defrauded the express company over a period of time and gave the proceeds to her husband "because I loved him."

None of the money has been traced.

Detectives questioned Raymond Feinberg, bar owner and brother-in-law of Mrs. Jacobs, and said the state liquor control commission would be asked to inquire into the bar's ownership. The missing Jacobs was Feinberg's bartender at $200 a week, police said.

A theory has been advanced that Jacobs was the victim of blackmail or threats and that his wife resorted to her embezzlements in an effort to protect him with "payoffs." Police said they had discovered that Jacobs had made several deals in automobiles and possibly was involved in whisky black market transactions.

Judge Sentences Man To 90 Days In County Jail

Munising—Edward Harbenski, city, was confined to the county jail yesterday for a period of 90 days following arraignment here on a charge of assault and battery.

The sentence was imposed by Judge John A. Vizen. Complaint against Harbenski was brought by his wife Margaret.

Robert Nelson, Wetmore, arraigned in justice court Monday was fined $15 and court costs of $3.35 on a charge of "speeding." He paid the fine and was released.

Driver In Custody After Smashup On Munising Avenue

Munising—Douglas Richardson of Munising received a gash over the eye at 8 p. m. Tuesday when the car he was driving crashed into a furnace cleaning truck parked on Munising avenue. Richardson was held at the county jail for questioning as officer Robert Shilling investigated the accident. Richardson's auto was badly wrecked and the mechanism of the furnace cleaning outfit was damaged. Harry P. Kappell of Chicago, driver of the truck, said that parking lights of his vehicle were on at the time of the crash.

The initiation planned for Sept. 22, has been cancelled and will be held over until the October date.

Any members having applications of candidates are requested to turn them over to Grand Knight, Clyde LaRock, within the next week.

Local Photo Fan Has 'Pic' Published

The picture portrayed a young child asleep in a baby stroller and was published over the name of the local photographer.

Miss Shampine, a member of the Munising camera club, has been a devoted photo fan since graduation from high school two years ago. She has won a number of local camera club picture contests during the past year.

Lutherans Hear Architect Talk

Munising—Adolph Hanson, famous church architect of Chicago, was the principal speaker at a special meeting of the Eden Lutheran church congregation last evening.

The congregation, which plans an addition to the present church structure, was presented sketches and shown slides of the contemplated expansion, besides hearing the architect's address.

The Rev. H. A. Larson is pastor of the local church.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Cards Lose, Dodgers Win To Stretch Lead To 8½

St. Louis, Sept. 16 (AP)—With all thoughts of overtaking the pennant bound Brooklyn Dodgers practically gone now, the fast fading St. Louis Cardinals were faced with the prospect of losing second place today as the New York Giants handed them their third straight licking 7-2.

Rookie Ray Poat went all the way for the New Yorkers, limiting the defending champions to seven hits for his fourth victory against one defeat. Harry Brecheen was the loser, dropping his 11th game against 15 wins.

The Cards broke a scoreless deadlock with a run in the fifth on a triple by Ron Northey and a single by Terry Moore, but the Giants moved in front 3-1 in the seventh on a double by Walker Cooper, a single by Willard Marshall and Sid Gordon's 12th home run of the season.

The Giants finished Brecheen off in the eighth with a four run outburst which included five singles and Cooper's home run. Northey's 14th homer gave the Cards another tally in the ninth.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16 (AP)—A seven-run rally in the seventh inning of the nightcap gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 7-3 win over the Cleveland Indians today and a split in the doubleheader to keep alive flickering hopes of a first division berth. Cleveland capped the first game 5-3, and at the end of the day's proceedings held a 3½ game edge on the Mackmen.

Joe Gordon hit two more runs and a single in the opener to help Bob Feller to his 19th win of the season. George Metkovich also chipped in with a circuit swat.

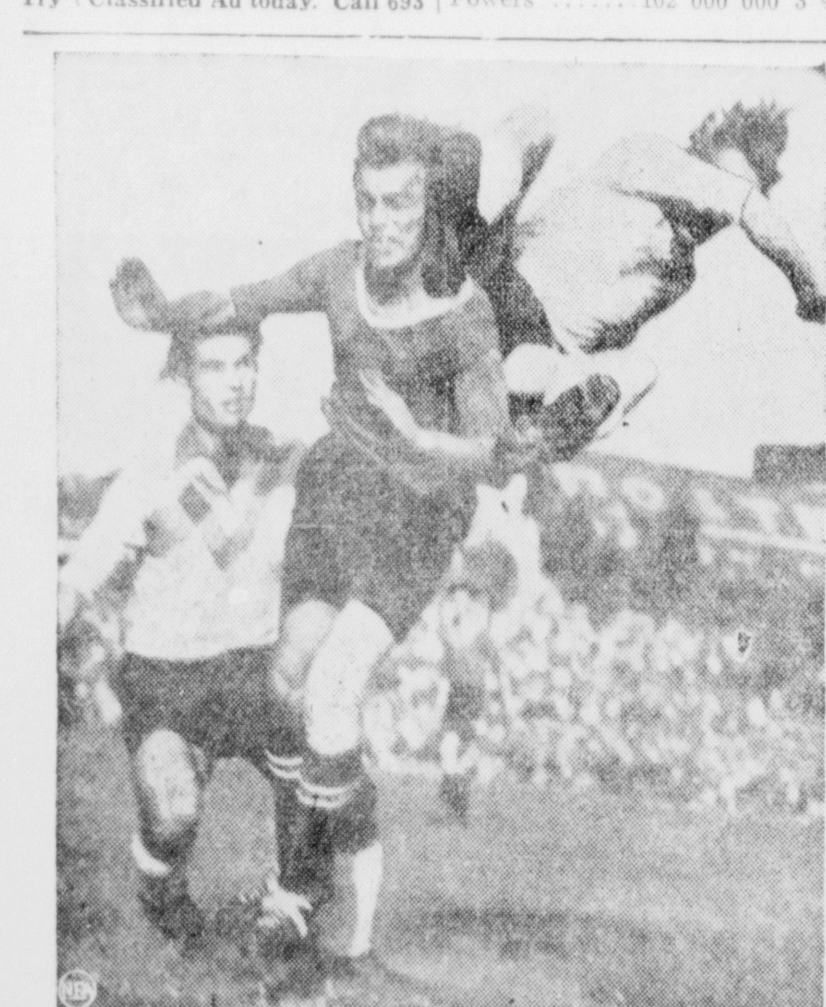

Cleveland clubbed Bill McCahan for three runs in the opening inning of the nightcap but could make no headway against Bob Savage. Sun Chapman's double with the bases full climaxed the seven-run seventh.

Last-Place Browns Divide Twin Bill With New Yorkers

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—The last place St. Louis Browns earned a split in their doubleheader with the New York Yankees today, winning the second game 8-2 after the new American League champions had won the opener 8-3.

The Browns executed eight double plays in the twin bill, five in the second game as Sam Zoldak spaced 10 Yankee hits for his eighth victory against nine defeats. Young Karl Drews, first of four Yankee flingers, was charged with the defeat.

With all of the regulars with the exception of Outfielder Tommy Henrich and Shortstop Phil Rizuto getting a well deserved rest, the Yankees pounded Fred Sanford and Walter Brown for 14 hits to register an easy win in the opener. Rookie Dick Starr, making his first start for the Yankees, gained his first victory, although he was hit solidly. Henrich chipped in with four safeties and drove in three runs to increase his season's RBI total to 94.

SINKWICH RETIRES
New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—Frank Sinkwich, former All-America back at Georgia, has asked the New York football Yankees to place him on the voluntary retired list because of a knee injury.

Don Topping, president of the All-America conference team, said tonight.

The one-time flash of the gridiron conferred with Coach Ray Flaherty after the Yanks defeated the Dons in Los Angeles Friday night and decided to retire at least for the 1947 season.

The Anti-Saloon League, founded in 1823 in Oberlin, Ohio, was an outgrowth of the Oberlin Temperance Alliance.

St. Joseph's gridders, who dropped a 30-7 game to Gladstone in their opener last Saturday, travel to West DePore, Wis., to take on St. Norbert's and the Escanaba high school Eskymos, 19-0 victor over Sault Ste. Marie, stay home to battle the Ironwood Red Devils. That's the local high school grid picture for next Saturday.

Bemoaning unfortunate injuries to Warren "Moose" Gustafson and Ted Gardner, two lettermen veterans, in the Soo clash, Coach George Ruwutch had a word of praise yesterday for young Howard Perron, playing his first game at half, and for the starting ends, Herb Nicholson and Gary Abrahamson.

"They showed up well and several others showed considerable promise, individually, but teamwork in general was a bit sluggish, and we have plenty of work lined up this week to improve our timing, drive, deception and precision," he commented.

The consensus is that the Soo game is a good one to have out of the way. Against an admittedly weak team, it was a good opportunity for the Eskymos to smooth out some rough spots and to give Ruwutch a better idea of what certain candidates will do under fire.

Although its line was fairly aggressive, Soo's backfield was below par. Coach Dave Ripley lacked an all-around dependable performer around whom any semblance of offensive power might be built. He lacked also a capable punter and passer.

The Eskymos showed promise, but as Ruwutch has emphasized, they need work and lots of it. Experience is the thing most of the players lack. Only seven of 26 lettermen returned this year, and for a goodly portion of the Eskymos who saw action last Saturday, it was their first test under fire in a regular game. They should come along all right.

Under Coaches Ruwutch, Dick Schram, Jim Rouman and Steve Baitie, they're getting plenty of work in drive and aggressiveness. Those two factors will go a long way toward making a mediocre player into a dependable performer, something which most high school players fail to grasp.

Football is a game in which plenty of drive pays a big premium.

Gladstone, Sept. 16—Gladstone high school gridders play their first home game of the season Saturday afternoon at Marble Athletic Field when they entertain Munising high.

The game is the first of three home games in the 1947 schedule, the others being against Newberry on Oct. 11 and Ishpeming Oct. 18.

Considering the greenness of the team the overall play in the opener against St. Joseph last Saturday was encouraging to Coach Eldon Keil. While the team looked pretty good there was plenty of room for improvement in all departments.

In Munising, the Braves will meet a far more experienced team. The Munising eleven is studded with veterans and they will be playing their third game of the season. Last Saturday they rallied to take the measure of the Marquette Gravediggers.

All players came out of the opener in good physical condition and, barring injuries in practice, the squad should be at top strength for the game.

Coach Keil said yesterday he wasn't contemplating any drastic changes, if any at all, in the lineup. While some of the players didn't do as well as might have been done last week, it was a case of inexperience and not that they weren't trying.

Eskymos Face Real Test Against Ironwood

"We know that Soo was fairly easy and that Ironwood will be a lot tougher!"

With that brief statement, Eskymo Coach George Ruwutch summed up the Escanaba outlook in preparation for the clash here next Saturday afternoon against the Ironwood Red Devils—the Eskymos' first home game of brand new season.

"Blue Devils last Saturday. Red Devils next Saturday. But this is going to be a tough one, and we've got a lot of work ahead of us this week getting ready for it," he remarked.

"Ironwood is no pushover. That 25-13 victory over Calumet last Saturday gives you some idea of what they've got. Sure, they lost to Hibbing, Minn., the previous Saturday but Hibbing is a big town, and it was Ironwood's first game."

Coach Ruwutch went on to say that two of his top men, Warren Gustafson and Ted Gardner, came out of the 19-0 win over the Soo Saturday with injuries and at least Gustafson, hard-driving fullback and No. 1 bugaboo of Eskymo opponents, may not see action against Ironwood.

Gustafson was banged up early in the game on a defensive play, going in for a tackle, and Gardner, left tackle, sprained his ankle and was not out for practice Monday or Tuesday but may show up today.

And to top it all, Don Christensen, Gardner's understudy, sprained his ankle in scrimmage Monday afternoon. Apart from necessary adjustments to compensate for these injuries — Bob Judson to full and a tackle shuffle—Ruwutch expects the remainder of the starting lineup will be the same. Dave Walch will back up the line, replacing Gustafson in that assignment.

"Of course, we were happy to win the ball game", but it hurt to have Gustafson and Gardner injured," Ruwutch added.

"But no doubt about it, Soo was weak, particularly in the backfield."

Asked about Escanaba's play at the Soo, Ruwutch had this to say: "Individually, they looked okeh. But as a unit, it was sluggish going, very little snap and precision. That's what we're going to iron out this week."

"Remember, Ironwood is tough!"

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

Lansing (AP)—The advance guard of Michigan's thousands of hunters—the bow and arrow deer hunters and the Upper Peninsula rabbit and grouse hunters—take to the field in three weeks with prospects rated "better than ever."

The Conservation Department points to ever-increasing reports of crop damage by deer to prove their contention that the deer herd is at record proportions.

The archers may take a buck anywhere in the deer country between Oct. 1 and Nov. 5. But by a 1947 act of the legislature, the wielders of the bow may take any deer—buck, doe or fawn—after Oct. 11 in 17 counties.

Deer have become so numerous in these counties that the legislature saw fit to let down the bars to the extent of passing the new law.

Counties open to this liberalized hunting are Alpena, Benzie, Crawford, Gogebic, Ionia, Isosca, Iron, Leelanau, Luice, Mackinac, Montcalm, Montmorency, Newaygo, Ontonagon, Oscoda, Roscommon and Schoolcraft.

With interest in bow and arrow hunting increasing steadily, department officials expect last year's record of 4,024 resident and 429 non-resident archery deer licenses to be broken this year.

As the season on grouse opens in the Upper Peninsula, hunters were faced with the encouraging news from Dr. G. A. Ammann, conservation department grouse expert, that the ruffed grouse (partridge) population is on a healthy up-grade.

However, prairie chickens, long a favorite target of upland game seekers, is definitely on the down-grade, Ammann added by way of a sobering note.

He pointed out that these birds thrive on recently burned over and open grass areas. Michigan's increasingly efficient forest fire-fighting equipment and forests which are rapidly growing up and covering open ranges are eating away at the prairie chickens' favorite haunts, Ammann said, and their numbers are consequently declining.

Sharp-tail grouse, too, are in a decline, so both these species are legal game only in parts of the Upper Peninsula. They may be taken in Marquette, Alger, Delta, Schoolcraft, Leice, Mackinac and Chippewa counties and in Dickinson and Menominee counties north of highway M-69.

Also in the Upper Peninsula, the rabbit and snowshoe hare seasons open Oct. 1, but little interest is expected until after bird seasons and snow has fallen. Hunters in that region have until March 1 for this type of hunting.

Considering the greenness of the team the overall play in the opener against St. Joseph last Saturday was encouraging to Coach Eldon Keil. While the team looked pretty good there was plenty of room for improvement in all departments.

In Munising, the Braves will meet a far more experienced team. The Munising eleven is studded with veterans and they will be playing their third game of the season. Last Saturday they rallied to take the measure of the Marquette Gravediggers.

All players came out of the opener in good physical condition and, barring injuries in practice, the squad should be at top strength for the game.

Coach Keil said yesterday he wasn't contemplating any drastic changes, if any at all, in the lineup. While some of the players didn't do as well as might have been done last week, it was a case of inexperience and not that they weren't trying.

Wallaesa's Grand Slam Homer Wins For Chisox, 8-3

Boston, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, who hadn't won a game in Boston until yesterday when they knocked the Red Sox out of the American League flag chase, won their second today when they bested the Red Sox 8-3 in the closing game of a doubleheader. The Red Sox took the opener 5-0 behind the six hit, shut-out pitching of Denny Galehouse.

Climax blow of the Chicago assault was a ninth inning grand slam homer by Shortstop Jack Wallaesa, his second such production of the season. Wallaesa, who had hit his previous four-run homer against the Athletics, banged today's off Bill Zuber, fourth Boston pitcher.

Taffy Wright, Chisox right fielder, clubbed four hits in four trips in the second game after getting one in three trips in the opener, to pull his batting average to .332, only four points in back of Ted Williams, the league leader.

Galehouse was aided by some alert fielding in the opener as the Sox whipped off four double plays behind him.

Land Speed Record Hoisted As Briton Hits 403-Mile Clip

BY OTIS J. PUSEY
Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Sept. 16 (AP)—John Cobb of London today hoisted the world land speed record to 394.196 miles per hour.

The doughty Briton not only smashed his own records of 368.9 MPH for the mile and 369.7 for the kilometer but he also achieved man's ambition to travel over 400 miles per hour on land.

Cobb braved a brisk wind and several rough spots on the 14-mile saline straightaway on this dry lake bed to chalk up marks undreamed of only a few years ago. His old marks were established here in 1939.

Cobb got away fast on the south run despite a light headwind and roared through the mile at 385.645 MPH and 388.019 for the kilometer.

When his time was announced the several hundred fans present roared their approval but that time was comparatively slow considering his return jaunt which started approximately 35 minutes after he completed the initial trip.

Cobb pushed the throttle to the

ALFRED A. HENES, MENOMINEE, DIES

Industrial And Civic Leader Was 70 Years Old

Alfred A. Henes, 70, eldest member of one of Menominee's most well known families, died at 5:30 a. m. Sunday at Presbyterian hospital in Chicago. A cerebral hemorrhage caused death. Mr. Henes had been in failing health for several months and previously had been a hospital patient in Chicago.

He was at his home, 1202 Sheridan road, Menominee, only recently before returning to the Chicago hospital. Mr. Henes' death was the second in the family within two months. A younger brother, Walter, died in July.

Native of Menominee, born in Menominee November 17, 1876, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Henes. He attended public schools in Menominee and later studied at Tourenfeld Institute in St. Louis. His education also included attendance at the Wald and Henius Breweries Institute in Chicago.

His long life spent in Menominee identified him with many business enterprises and established him as one of the twin cities' most ardent yachtsmen. His black-hulled yacht Dorothy was a familiar craft, not only in local waters, but on all the Great Lakes and in Canada. He was a past commodore of the M. and M. Yacht club, an organization which he helped to organize.

Mr. Henes was also one of the prime movers in the development of the Menominee yacht basin and the construction of the breakwater, going so far as to personally contribute funds to guarantee meeting the cost of its construction.

Many Business Connections
For many years, until he retired from active business several years ago, Mr. Henes was associated with the Henes-Geller company in Menominee. At the time of his death he was president of the Menominee Sugar company of Green Bay, past president and present director of the American Rule and Block company, vice president of the M. and M. Brewing company and a director of the Signal Electric Manufacturing company, director of Carpenter-Cook company, vice president of the Menominee Home and Investment company and also served as a director of the former Hoskin Paper company.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon.

Good Repair Job But Wrong Auto

Oklahoma City (AP)—Ed Marlow asked J. T. Rupp to get his automobile from a downtown street and repair it at Rupp's garage. Rupp did, then telephoned Marlow the car was ready.

"You don't have my car," said Marlow.

The perplexed Rupp started checking and discovered he had overhauled an automobile owned by J. L. Skvare.

FUNERAL TODAY—Final rites for Dr. Frank T. Long, 71, who died at his home in Gladstone Sunday, will be held at the Alto funeral home 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with Rev. James Ward officiating. Masonic services will be held at the graveside in Lakeview cemetery. In addition to a survivor's previously mentioned, Dr. Long leaves a sister, Mrs. Hamill of Gary, Ind.

Delta-Menominee Health Board Asks For Appropriation

Facing an anticipated deficit of $8,300 in its first year of operation, ending next July 1, the Delta-Menominee board of health decided at its meeting in the Pinecrest sanatorium last night to request $12,000 each from the Delta and Menominee county boards of supervisors at their budget meetings this fall.

This will not offset the deficit, it was explained by Dr. William C. Harrison, Escanaba, director of the unit, but specific action on the joint appropriation was requested.

The Menominee county appropriation represents a 50-cent per capita allocation, compared with 35 cents per capita from Delta county. The city of Escanaba has appropriated $2,800 in addition, Dr. Harrison said.

The deficit will result because of a reduction in the appropriation from Federal funds of $8,462 for the year ending July 1, 1948. Federal appropriation last year was $15,118, compared with $6,656 for the year ending next July.

Approximately $6,500 in Federal funds was appropriated to the joint health board for the first six months of the current fiscal year, but only about $100 will be received for the second six months, he pointed out.

The board's entire membership was present at last night's session. Delta county representatives are Supervisors Albert Buckman, Gladstone; Victor Nelson, Escanaba, and Walter Manntie, Rock.

Others attending were Harold Gustafson, Ensign, representing the finance committee of the Delta county board of supervisors,

B. & P. W. Holds Round-Table Meet At Sherman Hotel

Round table discussions for the year's program of work were held by standing committees of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's Club following their dinner-meeting at the Sherman hotel last evening. The round table discussions were arranged by Mrs. Lillian Reynolds, chairman of the program, co-ordination committee, and committee chairmen will report their findings at the next meeting.

As a temporary arrangement, it was decided that meetings of the club will be held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month rather than the first and third as has been customary since the organization of the club. Meetings will be held at the Sherman hotel on those nights and dinner will be served promptly at 6:45 rather than 6:30 to accommodate members who find it impossible to arrive earlier. The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, Oct. 14.

The Marquette B. & P. W. club will be host to clubs of the fifth and sixth districts comprising the entire Upper Peninsula Oct. 19. A good delegation will attend from the local club, it is indicated. About 30 members attended the meeting last evening. Mrs. Reynolds, program chairman, reported that plans are underway for an active year.

and O. E. Maguire, of the state health department.

Eagles Will Hold Initiation Sunday

Plans for the initiation of a large class of candidates by Escanaba Aerie 1088, Fraternal Order of Eagles, next Sunday, Sept. 21, at 2 p. m., were announced at a regular meeting of the aerie last night. Lunch will be served after the initiatory ceremonies Sunday afternoon.

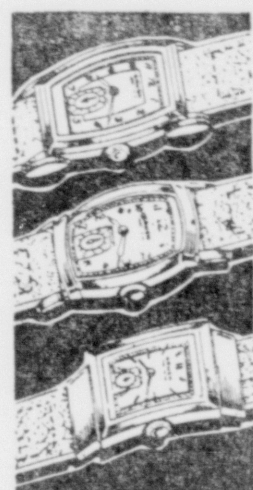

Henry Olson, newly appointed general chairman of entertainment and activities, gave a report last night outlining a program of events planned for the Fall and Winter season and coming holidays.

Starting with the meeting last night, weekly business sessions of the aerie will be at 8 p. m. instead of 8:30 p. m. as they were during the Summer months. Members were reminded by President John Dechantal.

Italian spaghetti prepared by past president Art Servant was the feature dish of the weekly lunch last night.
